Two Men Dismembered at the Gas Works To-Day.

John Burns' Head Torn From His Body-Tom Doran's Death.

The Fearful Work of an Exploding Gas Meter - Holes Made in Solid Walls-How the Men Were Killed-The Accident and Its Cause.

The works of the St. Louis Gas Company on Second and Convent streets were the scene of a terrible explosion at 10 o'clock this morning, which re m the immediate neighborhood of the spot when the accident occurred accepting the three victims, and the only survivor being insensible, the details of the catastrophe could not be easily obtained. The explosion occurred in the gas meter attached to the purifying house. It was sharp and quick and could be distinctly heard for haif a mile around. The meter, which is situated in the center of the building, is a mass of debris and a total wrock. The walls and roof of the building inclosing it were leveled to the ground, and a large rent in the roof shows that the debris spread in all directions. THE MEN KILLED.

The two men who were killed were John Burns, a mechanic, and Tom Doran, his assistant. Burns' head was torn violently from his body, and when found was some eight feet distant from the trunk. It was frightfully disfigured, and the right eye, which was missing, was afterwards found a bloody, unsightly mass, hanging to a fragment of sheet iron. His right arm was broken at the elbow and bent backwards around his waist. The upper half of his body was crushed, bruised and discolored. Doran's kill was crushed in on the right side and his features were almost unrecognizable. Death must have been instantaneous in both cases. Burns have been instantaneous in both c a plumber and gas fitter who was working on the outside of the meter when the accident occurred, was picked up insensible ten feet away from the building. He was paced in a carriage and sent to his home, S13 Hickory street, where he was attended by Dr. Bohle. A POST-DISPATCH reporter called at the house, but was denied admittance to Killian by his wife, who stated that he was out of his head and that the doctor had instructed her to keep him quiet. She stated that he was not fatally injured, and she hopes for his recovery soon.

Mrs. Killian said that her hasband had said nothing about the cause of the explosion, but that she had been told by one of the men at the gas works the explosion was the result of the carelessness the meter, igniting the gas.

The two meters which occupied the house were about eight feet in diameter and about twelve feet or more long. The walls about this building were eighteen inches thick, and at "D" and "E," both ends of the meter, those walls were blown out. the end of a long fight like this, will give him unusual prominence and make him a leading figure in the Republican Convention of 1888. His friends are very triumphant. They say Logan took the against his own judgment and desires. He fought what he regarded as a losing fight from the start.

Now they will ask to have him rewarded with first

The officer refused to accept the explanation as satisfactory and directed the Frenchman to accompany him to the Thirty-seventh Precinict Police Station. Francis again shouldered his bag and bore the mutilated corpse to the Police Station. He was placed under arrest and steps taken to investigate The surposed mystratous cellus. Francis is about 37 years of age, and made no attempt to explain the affair when closely questioned, other than to repeat the story that his wife had died at their house on Tenth avenue and that he was simply depositing the corpse in the river on acother than to repeat the story that his wife had died at their house on Tenth avenue and that he was simply depositing the corpse in the river on account of his inability agive it Curistian burial.

Louis Francis tells the following story: "Yesterday I found a valuable dog which my wife afterwards lost. I reproached my wife for losing him and she swore at me. At 7:30 o'clock last night she sent me out for beer. When I came back i found a man named William Weish in the room with her. Welsh works in the same shop with me. She sat on my lap and kissed me; then she threw a glass at me and then a can. She then went out. She walked about half a block, and then I left them to come out. When I came back she was lying on the floor dead. I waited an hour, thinking she would revive. She did not. I don't know what was the cause of her death. She told me before she died that she did not care for me, but she liked the man who put up the wine for her. He is Leopold Saconville, and he lives with Mrs. Lynch on Broadway. After I found my wife dead I took 96 cents and went out and got a drink. In half an hour I came back and put her in the bag to throw her into the river.

The woman was not Francis' wife. She was Se-

The voices Prancis' wife. She was Selina Febot, 89 years old, with a son 18 years of age, who lives in Boston. Francis, who is one year younger than his paramour, has worked for some time in a French polishing marble yard. Three months aro the couple moved into the apartments where the crime was committed. Francis lived on the ground floor in the rear of the structure. His three rooms were comfortably furnished and neative. But were persons it appearance above the average in the neighborhood, but both drank treely of beer, the man often to excess. They quarreled frequently. Two weeks ago, while in one of his convivial moods he best and kicked her while she was on the finor. He, upon picking her up, was heard by tenants in the house to say, "I guess I've finished her this time."

As the body of Selina Fehot lay in the Police Station this morning it had the appearance of once having been that of a pretty woman; even the traces of dissipation could not destroy this impression. She was of delicate complexion, large, expressive blue eyes, thick, way, light brown hair, and petite in figure, probably weighing about one hundred pounds. On the corpse were scrupulously clean underwear, a black skirt and embroidered night shirt. About the neck was a twisted silk handkerchief, and about the throat lines of discoloration and marks of finger nais. It was evident that the woman had been strangied to death by twisting the handkerchief about her throat.

nounced Harper, Calhoun and Snyder, Republicaus, Cherry and Keyes, Democrats, as the committee. The House passed several bills and took a recess until afternoon to resume work on the passage of House bills. The Senate refused to advance to third reading Morris' bill to reimburse the County of Hardin for the loss of records and damage to the Court House sustained by fire, and Ainsworth entered notice that he will move to reconsider the vote by which it failed. Merriti introduced a resolution providing for the purchase by the State of Speaker Haines' township organization laws, seven copies to be furnished to each township, and one to each justice of the Deace in the State. It was referred to the Committee on Printing. The order of appropriation bills on second reading occupied nearly all of the morning session, and aleven bills on that order were disposed of. This almost cleared the calendar and the general appropriation bill was taken up by items. After disposing of two items, the Senate took a recess until afternoon to complete the work. Although there were several members absent to-day from each branch of the General Assembly, the attendance was sufficient to allow business to proceed rapidly and effectively, and an unusual amount of work was accomplished.

THE NORTHWEST WAR. Indians Becoming Recklessly Daring-Anxiety About Riel's Fate.
WINNIPES, May 19.—A Battleford dispatch says "The situation here to-day took on a peculiar change. Poundmaker's Indians, evidently encouraged by the capture of the supply train and the quietude of Otter's troops, came closer to the bar-racks. It is supposed that over 200 Indians were riding about in the vicinity. They set the prairie on fire in several places not far from town and the barracks. Their actions gave rise to a fear of attack to-night, and steps were immediately taken to meet it. Forces were gathered in and around the barracks, and the town put in position for defense. The private Canadian-Pacific wire has been out of order, and it is likely that nothing further come through till very late."

New York, May 20.—at 8 o'clock this morning a Frenchman who proved to be Louis Francis of No. 807 Tenth avenue, was arrested while on his way to the North River, bearing on his back a bag containing the mutilated corpse of a woman, who, it is supposed, had been murdered. The policeman was attracted by Francis' mysterious manner as he moved along, weighted down by his ghastly burden, and he was stopped and asked what the bag contained. The Frenchman refused to give any explanation and attempted to move on, but the officer insisted upon being informed as to the contents of the sack, and took Francis into custody. The policeman then seized Francis by the arm, whereupon he dropped the bag and its contents upon the sidewalk, and the officer, upon opening the end of the sack, found, to his surprise and horror, that it contained. The policeman, upon making a closer examination found unmistakable evidence of the sack walk, and the officer, upon opening the end of the sack, found, to his surprise and horror, that it contained. Mr. O'Neil has been appointed as was stated some days since, one of the agents of the State to bring Maxwell back, and his trip to Washington is in pursuance of his new duties. Much amusement is expressed in official croles over the effort of J. M. Marshal MacDonald to capture the trip to Aucland in spite of the Police Board and the Governor of the State. Having falled to get the appointment from the Police Board, Mr. MacDonald pocketed the papers in the case and went up to Jefferson City to plead his case with Governor Marmaduke. He was again unsuccessful, and it is said that he means to go to Washington this evening to implore President Cleveland to send him to New Zealand, chiefly, apparently, for the purpose of testifying that under the laws of Missouri murder is a felony. In the meantime the very pertinent inquiry is being made, if the business of Mr. MacDonald's office as Assistant Circuit Attorney is so slack that he may without detriment to the public service, take a pleasure trip which will take him any time between two and six months to complete, what is; the reason why he should not be given a hoidday altogether? Feople are asking if there is rothing for Mr. MacDonald to do in the course of the next four months in St. Louis, and nobody seems able to answer the question either way. As the matter stands only Mr. MacDonald is able to explain why he should go. He seems to labor under the impression that the Status of the crime of murder under the statues of Missouri, and will also not know whether they can extradite Maxwell or not uniess he is on hand to advife them in the premises. It is a great sacrifice for Mr. McDonald to make, to neglect his business and the business of the city here for an indefinite period, but he means to immodate himself on the altar of patriotism and go, if he can.

the family. She was not treated as a member of the family there. He engaged her as housekeeper, Miss Frances, his daughter, making the arrangement with her. He used to meet her at meal times and occasionally in the kitchen' and dining room. In the evening they all sat around together. Once or twice he had conversation alone with her. The first time this happened was last May. He was about to leave the dining-room when he stopped and asked her how she would like to get married. She said: "Oh! you wouldn't marry a poor girl like nie." He 'then went out into the garden, where the children were. There had before this been no affectionate talk between him and Miss Korte. He did not remember any other words said in that conversation, which lasted about feeting married and wondering whether Mary would accept [laughter]. His claughter Frances, wanted to get married and he did not want to be living alone with the children. The next time he conversed with plaintiff was in the course of about feet

He said that he had already told plauntiff that he reserved this right, and at the same time she acknowledged that she had had three beaux, but they all went back on her. This conversation took place up-stairs and the children were not present. He consulted the children and found that Frances favored his marriage with Mary, but the others didn't. He didn't find out that the other children were opposed until after Frances had gone with plaintiff to Muscatine, when they complained that she did not do her work well and that they did not want her for a stepmother. He did not ever remember asking Miss Korte whether she was in favor of saving "yes." or "yes."

He never kissed her that he knew of. [Laugnter.] He was never guilty of improprieties with the plaintiff as she had charged. He never told anyone that he was engaged to her. When she went to Muscatine he bought ner a ticket out of money that was coming to her.

In cross-examination witness said he was 51 years of age, and was inst married at Lebanon, Ill., last October. He knew his present wife about ten days before he married her. He first spoke to Miss Korte about marriage in May, 1884, when he had known her for over a year. He didn't think he was popping the question when he talked with her on the subject of matrimony on the door-step. He was only trying to get acquainted with her, [Laughter.] He wapted her take the marriage question under consideration and then he might pop after awhile. [Laughter.]

"Now, didn't you bend down over her sitting on the doorstep and ask her for one little kiss?"

"No, sir."

"Are you certain that you never kissed her?"

"But you wouldn'tswear that you didn't?"

"Te you create that you didn't?"
"It isn't in my mind now if I did."
Some time after the doorstep romance, he asked her whether abe had made up her mind. She said, "Yes," but witness did not remember what he then said. He thought that he left the matter open to see what the children would say about it. It was a conditional proposition he made to Miss Korte, but the conditional nature of it

Witness' memory proved very defective when Judge Gottschalk tried to get him to go into particulars regarding the "popping" interview between him and the plaintiff, and the large audience roared with laughter when he acknowledged that his memory was a defective one when proposals of marriage were under consideration. His attention was called to the fact that, in his letter to the plaintiff breaking off the match, he toid her he had repeatedly informed her that he would not marry her unless the children were willing, but he was unable on the stand to recall a single instance in which he mentioned the subject to her. Witness remembered the times that his daughter Frances made the suggestion that all four of them get married together, but did not remember saying at the time that, it would not do to leave the children all alone at home. Witness received one or two letters from Mary while she was at Muscatine, which she called attention to the fact that their wedding day was drawing bear, and that, if business permitted, he should go to Muscatine, where the happy event would come off. Witness wrote a letter to his daughter Frances at Muscatine, which he had destroyed. On the surface where the happy event would come off. Beware of Articles Headed "Baking Powder Tramps," "Poison at the Front Door,"

'Worse than Sneak Thieves," &c. A cunning set of vendors of a cooking preparation have been, for years, imposing upon house keepers. They have advertised their product as "absolutely pure;" all the time using a cheap poison, nature's sickening drug-Ammonia. The way they have imposed upon people has been by "sleek advertising." The public have been scaught by this large advertising, not knowing that their powder contained an animal excrement. Lately came forward the great chemists of this country and said: "This is wrong; this baking powder is polluted with an excrement. Nature does not an prove it. What has passed from the system should not re-enter as food." Our family physicians say "The sale of the excrementious substance—Ammo-nia—in a food preparation is a horror, and should be made a State offense."

When the first thunder of the accusation came they tried the plan of indifference. Now, wounded, they speak. To contradict the great chemistal No.
They dare not say that their baking powder does They dare not say that their baking powder does not contain a principle of manure. Arraigned, accused, scientifically indicted for an outrageous trespass upon public innocence and public decency, they make no response, though their accusers occupy the highest chairs of scientific learning in the United States.

United States.

Lately they have been spending some of the money accumulated by practicing a dangerous deception upon society, in newspaper speech. Cunningly publishing articles under the heading of "Baking Powder Tramps," "Poison at the Front Door," "worse than Sneak Thieves," etc., and palming them off as articles written by the editors. Is not the public tired of all dealing with a company that has so long sold them a baking powder containing a disgusting drug?

pany that has so long sold them a baking powder containing a disgusting drug?

On the other hand, the chemists certify that "Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder is free from Ammonia, free from Lime, free from Alum, free from any ingredients not harmless and wholesome, or not found in the foods provided by nature," and the most perfect made." The United States and Canadian Governments have caused the baking powders on the market to be examined, and have placed "Dr. Price's" at the head of the entire list.

There were twenty cases on the docket this morning, principally petty offenses. Ed. Barrett was fined $5 for lounging and $25 for resisting a police officer; Wm. Douglass, $10 for obstructing the street; Charles Hines, $10 for treepassing, and Wm. Hoyt. Mary Queen and Anna Hewett $10 each for disturbing the peace.

For the "little ones" we have every thing that's new, desirable and cheap. Kilt Suits, all styles, 2 to $10 Knee-Pant Suits, all-wool, $3 50 to $12 Sailor Suits, all colors, $2 50 to $7 50 Norfolk Suits, very stylish, $4 to $10 Jersey Suits, the latest, 2 $3 50 to $8 Young Men and Boys' Long-Pantstock never so handsome, and at PRICES that will RETAIN OLD and MAKE NEW FRIENDS.

The Arctic ship Alert, will start for Hudson's Bay next week, to bring home the men who spent last year at the stations along the shores of Hudson Strait, established by the Dominion Government for the purpose of taking meteorological and other scientific observations, and replace them with men who will remain there an other year. The whole American and Canadian Northwest is vitally interested in the opening up of the long talked of route to Europe by way of Hudson Strait will specific the long talked of route to Europe by way of Hudson Strait will specific the long talked of route to Europe by way of Hudson Strait was and remedies fail. the long talked of route to Europe by way of Hudcentury's experience in Arctic waters. He will go out on the Alert as the representative of the Winnipeg and Hudson Bay Railroad and Navigation Company, to report upon the feasi-bility and practicability of theroute. bility and practicability of theroute. In an interview Capt. Adams expressed the opinion that Hudson's Bay and Straits are more feasible and practicable for navigation from the middle of June to the end of October, to ships properly equipped with two and a half-inch iron plates for outside shell, with suitable ice stem, inside fortifications and with extra beam. The ships should be limited to 2,500 tons in size. They need not be wooden ships, as after making two trips to Hudson's Bay in the season they could be employed in the Atlantic or any other trade. He thinks that there is as much danger in navigation on the coasts of Newfoundland and Nova Scotia, when the ice is breaking up in the spring, as in navigation in Hudson's Bay in the four months indicated. The opening up of this route will bring the beart of the great Northwest as near to Liverpool as New York is to-day.

James Cunningham was arrested this morning for listurbing the peace and was fined $3 and costs. There will be a musical and literary entertainment to night at the Y. M. C. A. room. The Rev W. Johnson will lecture on "From Alexandria to Jerusalem."

Carrie Baker and Beckie Johnson, two disreput-ble women, were arrested last night for disturbin the peace. They were released this morning an their cases dismissed. David Beyer and Stephen Mack were arrested last night at the request of Chief Harrigan and were sent over to St. Louis this morning. The charge against them was not made known.

up the case. Suspicion rested on Milford Fitzmorris and Joseph Hafily, two young boys who herd cows near hir. Withiuson's residence. They were seen together near the residence a short time before the robbery, and their actions since led the officers to believe that they were the perpetrators. They were arrested this morning but none of the stolen property was found in their possession. A visit to the various pawn shops throughout the city was barren of results, and if the two young herdsmen are the thieves they have probably secreted the stolen property until such a time as they can dispose of it in safety. Hafily gave bond in the sum of $200 this morning and was released. Fitzmorris was unable to furnish bond and is stiff in configement.

ELECTION NOTICES.

My gratitude to God is unbounded for the relief
I have obtained from the use of the Cuticuta REMEDIES. I have been troubled with Eczema on my legs for twenty years. I had not a comfortable night for years, the burning and itching were so intense. Now, I am happy to say, I have no trouble, Only the liver-colored patches on my limbs remain as a token of my former misery.

ECZEMA ON A CHILD. Your most valuable Cuticura Remedies have done my child so much good that I feel like saying this for the benefit of those who are troubled with skin disease. My little girl was troubled with Eczema, and I tried several doctors and medicines, zema, and I tried several doctors and hexage-but did not do her any good until I used the Curi-CURA REMEDIES, which speedily cured her, for which I owe you many thanks and many nights of rest. ANTON BOSSMIER, EDINBURGH, IND.

TETTER OF THE SCALP. I was almost perfectly bald, caused by Tetter of the top of the scalp. I used your CUTICUTA REM-ROISE about six weeks, and they cured my scalp perfectly, and now my hair is coming back as thick as it ever was.
